Reviews

This place is a complete surprise, and not just because of its rather daft name. Standing 50 ft above the feisty Atlantic Ocean at Bathsheba, it is different from any other holiday place on Barbados, being neither platinum-coast posh nor south-coast mass-market concrete.

Sunday Times, London

Breathtaking views over the Atlantic Ocean. The atmosphere is very relaxed, and the rooms are simple but very romantic. Our fellow guests were extremely pleasant people from all over the world who are there to relax and savor the natural beauty of the East Coast."
